REPORT OF THE DOINGS OF THE SELECTMEN

One of the first things to claim the attention of the board was the accident to G. H. Verder's mule on Long hill on Jan. 19, 1911. Much time was taken up in considering the matter with the outcome that the selectmen awarded $150.00, that sum not being entirely satisfactory to the owner, the selectmen granted that an article might be put in the town warrant for the next town meeting in March to see if the voters would grant an additional sum.

The next thing to be considered was the purchase of a chemical fire engine. After receiving catalogues and having representatives of various companies confer with us we called in the fire wards to get their opinion and finally purchased of the American LaFrance Fire Engine Co., the leading concern in that line, the engine which was considered the best suited to our needs, a two cylinder type and it is hoped by the board that it be necessary to use it for ornament only.

As the town voted to expend the amount of $200 on sidewalks, the abutters along the location chosen agreeing to pay half the expense against their respective lands. The same parties that built the year before having given satisfaction were engaged. Work was laid out and it was found by examining a little we could have a driveway to the town house door.

Runnell's bridge was in need of repair and Deware & Jordan were conferred with, as they were willing to guarantee a satisfactory job, and we think we have a lasting job at less expense than new plank.

The state road was laid out by Mr. Hathaway on the Nashua road, beginning at the Nashua line and coming toward the center of Hollis.

Mr. Fred Pierce was given charge of construction and the selectmen were to furnish the material. The amount expended as stated in the financial report is $1,122.81 and in addition $39.32 paid by state for surveys.

A contractors plow was purchased, a valuable implement for road work.

A sum of $557 was set aside as required by law for permanent improvement without state aid. Finding a very good bed of material we laid out $519.79 on the depot road. We hope the good work will be continued as there is need of it below the Myrick Pierce place.

Mr. Ernest Hill was unfortunate in having his horse injured on the bridge near Hayden's grist mill and claimed damages to the amount of $25. The selectmen found most of the bridges in the north part of the town were in need of repair. We ordered plank and had repairs made and had no more bills of that nature. We would however recommend the expending of more on bridges the coming season.

We received a letter from Mr. Harland M. Davis offering to give to the town their old hearse. You remember an article was in the warrant last year about buying a new hearse and it was defeated. However the board accepted the gift and have expended $85.50 in repairs. We leave it to you if we acted wisely.

A new lowering device for the cemetery was selected by the sexton and paid for by the town as voted last year.

We fear we have not lived up to the expectations of the chairman of last year in regard to pleasing every man but we feel that we have not erred in the money spent and wish for better things next year.

Respectfully submitted,

GEORGE F. HILLS,
GEORGE F. HALE,
GEORGE W. WOODIN.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION

The schools of the town have been doing the work assigned them with cheerfulness and evident interest, which is shown by a slight increase in the amount received from the state for average attendance; the amount being $216, in lieu of $214.80 received last year, which amount was a large gain over previous years and is expressive of good work done both on the part of the teachers and scholars alike. An amount of $114 was received from approved teachers account and $180 for one half salary of superintendent.

We believe supervision of schools is necessary in order to secure the best results for the money expended.

To make a school successful it is necessary to create an interest on the part of the pupils and teachers must show them how to acquire knowledge in a way that the acquisition becomes a pleasure, that can best be done by some one who closely follows the work of both the teacher and pupil and sees to it that each does the work assigned efficiently and well.

I wish that there might be more apparent interest shown the scholars by more frequent paternal visits to the schools. It does the scholars good to know that their parents are closely watching them and it does the teachers good to frequently meet the parents for consultation and chance of suggestion as to the work being done by their children.

We note no apparent lack of interest in the educational work of the town, which has always been great and every reasonable request made to best promote advancement has been generously met.

We are pleased to assure you that all the requirements necessary to make the High school an approved school for four years have been made. The necessary and required books for reference have been obtained and the chemical laboratory equipment and supplies have been secured. The school now being fully approved for the full four years course, the pupils will have no necessity to go away from home to acquire the standard they wish to attain.

The enrollment of the High school is growing larger each year; six are expected to graduate this year and as they wish to mark that epoch in their lives by making an educational trip to Washington instead of having the usual graduation exercises at home, the Board of Education have given their consent.

All the school rooms in the town that were used have been kept in the traditional good condition but the repairs have not been great.

Another year the school house in the center of the town will need some minor repairs and repainted.

Following you will find the regular tabulated statistics of the schools.

Respectfully submitted,

REPORT OF SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

So much of the progress of the Hollis schools has been of the quiet kind that it is difficult to make an interesting report. What has interested me most has not been spectacular innovations such as the introduction of domestic science, medical inspection, and the like in other towns; but has been the advancement of classes and of individual pupils as the teachers have been striving to bring them up to the standard of the good schools of the state. I rejoice more over this progress than I do over things which might interest the people of the town. A few changes should be mentioned as material for the public records, and I may be able to suggest needed improvements.

The following table shows the present enrollment by grades and rooms.

GRADE	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12	Total

Our village schools are now successfully following the State Program of Studies. I anticipate that by the close of the winter term they will be up to the standard in all subjects except English Composition, Music and Drawing. I hope we may be able to improve each of these subjects next term.

In order to combine classes this year, seventh grade pupils have taken the work of the eighth year in Geography and History. Next year eighth year pupils will do seventh year work in these subjects. As the principal difference in Geography is in the selection of countries to be studied it is immaterial which year's work is taken first.

Changes during the past twenty years from the Spencerian style of writing with its ornate shading to a plain vertical hand, then to a partial slant, and still later to an individual slant and style without the movement had left our penmanship in a chaotic state. We are trying to return to the muscular movement writing used by professional penmen and taught by all business colleges. It seemed impossible to obtain the desired results without a radical change in the methods used, since the teachers were in need of instruction and found it as difficult as the pupils to change their style of writing.

This year, instruction books were introduced in place of the copy books, and an effort is being made to entirely replace the cramped finger writing, characteristic of the vertical system, with the muscular movement used by professional penmen. The firm supplying these books gives each teacher in town a free correspondence course in penmanship, for the completion of which our Grammar School teacher has already secured her diploma.

The twenty years devoted to vertical, medial slant, and various styles of writing have not been barren of results. Although muscular movement was either forgotten or impossible with the style of letters taught, all shading and fancy writing have disappeared. We are now able to teach a form of letters that considers only legibility and rapidity.

That pupils may have more time than the fifteen minute daily lesson for penmanship practice, the upper grades use pen and ink in all their written work.

For many years our schools have taught pupils how to read good literature, but they have failed to create or encourage a desire to read the best books. A tombstone might as well have been placed over a good book as for its title to appear on the list of required reading. In order to encourage the reading of good literature teachers keep a record of books read by each pupil. When a pupil completes a book or selection he reports to his teacher and if it is approved he is given credit for the amount read. This record is to be handed on from grade to grade and through high school. The test given is such as to determine if the pupil has read the book intelligently and with pleasure rather than that he should be able to make a careful analysis of it. Although we have no record with which to compare results in the grades there seems to be a marked improvement in the children's outside reading both in quantity and quality.

Our teachers have had but little assistance in preventing truancy.

If a pupil is to be punished or has a difficult task to perform he can escape by remaining at home. Some pupils have remained away from school several afternoons to escape difficulties. I need not speak of the influence of such conditions upon the school. We must support the teachers if we except discipline or advancement. It is not the teacher's duty to incur the enmity of careless parents by insisting upon the attendance of their children.

The truant officer's salary, or the amount to be spent on truant officers is determined each year at the school meeting. May we not be supported in this matter?

I suggest that a committee be appointed to investigate and report on the condition of our village school building. A few mistakes have been made by spending money on repairs of rooms and toilets that should have been entirely remodeled. The toilets are in as bad condition as it would be possible to find in a town of this size and are a menace to the health of children. Whether it would be economy to repair them, or to remodel that part of the building is a matter that should be investigated by a special committee.

Last year an article appeared in the warrant in regard to heating the building. There are four large ventilating stoves in the main rooms, and four small stoves are in use. This leaves the large halls, toilets, stairways, and cloak rooms without heat. A teacher should be on duty in each hall or playroom at recess, but with the present heating arrangements it seems unjust to require teachers to remain on duty in the cold halls. If the building is to be heated perhaps an incinerating plant can be installed and thus secure sanitary toilets and a heating and ventilating system at the same time.

Our high school has been approved as first class, or for the full four year course. We now have two teachers on full time and are following the complete program as published in last year's report. The school day is divided into eight periods of thirty-five or forty minutes each. Each teacher has seven classes and one vacant period. In the following program the Roman numerals indicate first, second, third, or fourth year pupils; the Arabic figures indicate the class enrollment.

With the exception of the lack of books, our most important difficulties this year have been those which the parents, by united action, could have prevented. I have spoken of the truant officer and the great influence he would have upon the schools. I have gone over the records of the high school pupils and I find there should be but one or two failures in the school this year if all parents would support the teachers and insist upon their children keeping up their school work. Only one of these failures would occur in the Freshman class. I have found no mistakes in teachers' promotions. It is not preparation but application that most of the pupils need. Pupils of ordinary ability cannot keep up their high school work without home study. The program is planned so as to occupy a student's entire time, both in and out of school. We cannot maintain our standing unless pupils study evenings and Saturdays, or spend at least fifteen hours per week at concentrated home study. Pupils who assist in the home work should plan to take five years for the high school course. Parents should insist upon home study and provide suitable places for it. That greater application is needed in the grades is shown by the fact that sixty per cent of the class that entered high school last September were over age. There has been a marked improvement in our schools during the year. It has been a period of adjustment in which many difficulties were expected and many have been encountered. But most of these problems have been solved. I believe our graduates soon will be eligible for entrance to the better colleges and technical schools, and Hollis may look with pride upon a complete school system.

Respectfully,

JOHN BACON.
